

JNE Top Teaching Tools Awards 2010

The best teaching-learning resources published from September 2008 through August 2009, as chosen by JNE's Award Selection Committee.*

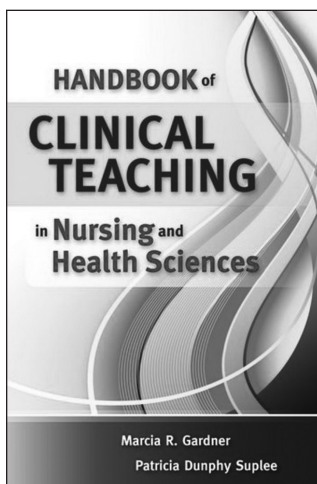

"The need for well-developed teaching resources has never been greater as nurse educators explore new pedagogies, revitalize clinical education, and adopt new technologies. Each year, a peer review panel from all over North America will review and select outstanding resources for nursing faculty. This year, we are proud to announce the winner and two deserving honorable mention."

- Christine A. Tanner, PhD, RN, FAAN
Editor

Winner

Handbook of Clinical Teaching in Nursing and Health Sciences

Marcia Gardner, PhD, RN, CPNP, CPN; and Patricia Dunphy Suplee, PhD, CS, RN-C
Jones and Bartlett Publishers
2009

This handbook is a quick resource for the support of clinical teaching by nurse educators and other health professionals.

"The Handbook of Clinical Teaching is a terrific guide for new clinical teachers (although any experienced teachers will find it helpful as well). It is full of practical advice, answers to frequently asked questions, and strategies clinical faculty can readily use in their practice to design clinical experiences, assess learning, and evaluate performance. Importantly, it also describes common but rarely discussed issues such as 'working effectively with a student who knows it all.'"

- JNE Award Selection Committee

*JNE Award Selection Committee: Marilyn Brady, PhD, RN; Pamela M. Ironside, PhD, RN; Theresa M. Valiga, EdD, RN, FAAN; Darrell R. Spurlock, Jr., PhD, RN; Martha McLeod, PhD, RN; Jane M. Kirschling, DNS, RN

Honorable Mention

The Neighborhood

Jane Giddens, PhD, RN
Pearson Education
2009

This online program allows students to connect the concepts they learn to the clinical setting through virtual patient experience in a safe environment.

"The Neighborhood is a well-developed, Web-based teaching tool. The scenarios are great and the use of audio, video, and interactivity will connect with most learners."

- JNE Award Selection Committee

Honorable Mention

Simulation Scenarios for Nurse Educators: Making It Real

Suzanne Hetzel Campbell, PhD, WHNP, IBCLC; and Karen Daley, PhD, RN
Springer Publishing Company
2009

This book serves as a step-by-step guide to developing simulated scenarios and integrating them into nursing curricula.

"The Simulation Scenarios is a very good resource on simulation. It is a practical guide for those who are ready to develop simulations within their curricula. It can be used in a variety of nursing education programs. The 17 exemplars, all following a template, are helpful stories from early adopters of simulation."

- JNE Award Selection Committee

Have you developed a great learning resource you want to share?

Submit it to the Journal of Nursing Education for the 2nd Annual
JNE Top Teaching Tools Awards!

Deadline for submissions: August 31, 2010.

For more details, visit the JNE Web site:
<http://www.journalofnursingeducation.com>